

Lexicography and lexicology

Convenor: Robert Lew and Sylwia Wojciechowska

There has existed a traditional and intimate relationship between lexicography and lexicology, and this section of the 21st International Congress of Linguists (ICL), scheduled to meet in Poznań on September 9-10, 2024, aims to bring these areas of scholarship together. Submissions are welcome on any aspect of lexicography and lexicology, and without prejudice to any language of the world. A new theme that I hope will be well represented in our section is the recent development of tools based on Large Language Models, how they impact the lexicographic workflow, and their implication for the practical needs of language users and language learners as far as lexical tools go.